A close-up photograph of a computer keyboard. The central focus is a large, rectangular key that is a vibrant red color, contrasting with the standard white keys. On this red key, the letters 'ADS' are printed in a clean, white, sans-serif font. Surrounding the red key are several white keys with black lettering: 'caps lock' to the upper left, 'A' to the upper right, 'Z' to the lower right, 'fn' to the lower left, and 'control' partially visible at the bottom. The lighting is soft, highlighting the texture of the keys and the sharp edges of the keyboard frame.
